

Content

Smarter Lives meets uDay 2019 - Digitalization and Quality of Life in an aging society.....7

Felix Piazzolo, Guido Kempter, Kurt Promberger

Part I: AAL-projects across Europe

Who are the elderly? Characteristics of a target group in a demographically changing world.....13

Nadine Sturm et al.

Practical Realization of an integrated Telemonitoring and Health Care Center Model - Interim results within the Pilot Region Smart VitAALity.....26

Daniela Krainer et al.

Benefits of a Technology-Based "Service-Living" - An Explorative-Qualitative Survey of the Perspective of Residents.....38

Lilli Bauer et al.

A user-centred approach for an AAL platform supporting personalized services for the elderly.....46

Eugenio Arbizzani, Paolo Civiero, Anna Mangiatordi

Acceptance of Smart Technologies: A Cross-generational Analysis of Attitudes and Perceptions.....55

Stephan Schlögl, Sarah Aichner

Part II: Degree of Quality of Life affected by technology

Effects of the solution bundle gAALaxy on the quality of life of community-dwelling older adults – a qualitative analysis.....67

Judith Kathrein et al.

Developing user centered technological prototypes to maintain physical health.....81

Karin Trommelschläger, Andreas Kuenz, Walter Ritter

Accessible Tourism around Lake Constance.....93

Hans-Peter Hutter, Alireza Darvishy

Acceptance, quality of life and willingness-to-pay measures to assess prerequisites and impacts of the use of assistive technologies by older adults – a review.....98

Ines Simbrig, Judith Kathrein, Marcelle van der Sanden

Part III: Technologies for older adults with cognitive impairments

Petal - Description of the project, first results.....115

Hermann Atz et al.

Music Technology for Neurological Diseases Among the Elderly.....127

Dominik Fuchs, Petra Friedrich

A self-learning mood transfer system to support people with dementia.....137

Edith Maier et al.

Creating activating and relaxing atmospheres using light, scent and sound.....148

Tobias Werner, Karin Trommelschläger, Patrick Jost

Authors.....158

Programm committee.....160